COXEY'S COMMONWEAL

The "Army" He Predicted Failed to Materialize.

LESS THAN A HUNDRED RECRUITS.

Wagers Freely Offered at Odds, with No Takers, That the Army Will Disband Before Reaching Pittsburg—Reports of Coxey's Wealth Overestimated.

CANTON, O., March 26.—In the face of a sharp, cold wind that brought shivers to the frames of well clad people Coxey's army marched eight miles yesterday on the road to Washington. There were a few less than a hundred of them. Not to exceed a dozen had overcoats or gloves. They had slept Saturday night on pallets of straw in the airy and cheerless circus tent, and they were greeted yesterday by the disagreeable discovery that no arrangements had been made for feeding them. Several hundred persons watched their departure from Massillon.

About 3,000 persons assembled at the temporary camp at Reedurban, and a host greeted the crusaders at Canton. Last night they slept at Camp Lexington, in the eastern part of Canton. A heavy snow storm set in before the details of the camp had been completed, and the trampers huddled around roaring camp fires. About two-thirds of the men enlisted made the trip.

Coxey has buried his disappointment over the non-appearance of the myriads he predicted, and is exultant over the handful who reported for business.

The Massillon camp on the Tuscaravas presented an odd sight yesterday morning. No fire was permitted in the big tent, but there was a heap of blazing logs outside. Every few minutes the flaps of the tent were parted by a soldier of the Commonweal, who visited the fire to drive away the chills. Soon he would hurry back to burrow in the straw for another nap, and others would take his place.

The hobos in the party became known just before breakfast. Some of them washed at the river brink and others carried water in pans and heated it over the fire. They burned straw and frolicked about like a troop of boys. A bugle call to breakfast brought them together at the tent with a rush. The bill of fare comprised bread, coffee and raw meat. The latter was affixed to the end of pointed sticks and roasted over the fire One group of five ran away in a body after breakfast and boarded a passing train.

Thirty of the Commonweal passed the whole of the night at the Massillon hotel. There were groups who could not be found when they were needed for picket duty, but they were on hand for breakfast. At 8 o'clock Marshal Smith, otherwise the unknown, summoned the men in the camp together, when they were found to number eleven groups. They were organized into a commune. Smith drilled them on the meadows for half an hour Smith has added several military formalities to the rules of the

CARL BROWNE

Commonweal. One is the plan of having them march in files of two, and a more surprising innovation is the adoption of military salutes. A man who shouted "Here Browne!" at the California reformer was given a raking over by Smith. He said that the proper caper was to ask for Chief Marshal Carl Browne and salute when his attention is secured. Thus the despised military system is being introduced, even though companies are called communes and regiments communities.

The start from Massillon resembled the moving of an old time country circus, more than anything else. There was no goddess of peace in the procession, as Coxey had designed, his divorced wife refusing to permit her daughter to go with the army in this capacity. Coxey's son Jesse, a boy of 16, was mounted on a blooded stallion from the stock farm, and wore a military uniform Browne and the other officers were similarly mounted, while the "general" rode in a phaeton behind one of his favorite horses. Mrs. Coxey, her 8-year-old son and the housekeeper for the Coxeys rode in a buggy. The rank and file of the army brought up the rear on foot.

The band wagon, which very much resembles a gypsy's traveling conveyance, followed. The musicians did their best to enliven the soldiers, and the many gay banners added fantastic elements to the pageant. Before the start the noonday rations were dispensed. They consisted of a can of salmon and a loaf of bread for each group of five, and a small slice of ham for each man. This seemed to satisfy the men, and they marched away with light heart and bouyant step

A special from Salem, O., says that an officer who is covering the Ohio route for the Pennsylvania authorities claims that if Coxey can keep going, and hold the men who are waiting to join him, he will cross the Pennsylvania line with about 3,500 men. He learns that at least 50 per cent. of the Ohio recruits will go into the crusade carrying firearms, "to be prepared," as one captain said, "to protect themselves in case they were imposed upon."

ALLIANCE, O., March 26.—The followers of General Coxey in this city were jubilant at first, after seeing the number of recruits that had started with the Commonweal army on its march, but they became disgusted later when told that most of the number were tramps. Mayor Excell has appointed twelve special policemen to assist the regular force when the army reaches here tomorrow. He said that while he did not apprehend any trouble whatever with the army, he made the appointments as a cautionary measure.

There is a well defined belief that Mr. Coxey intends to desert the army here tomorrow and go to Chicago on the evening express. It is said that he has several trotters there that he wents to sell at a horse sale on Wednesday. He is expected to return and take charge of the army again at Beaver Falls on Sunday. Bets were offered in the hotels here today at 2 to 1, with no takers, that the army would disband before they reached Pittsburg.

In contradiction of the generally accepted belief that Coxey is wealthy, Massillon people here told those who came here within the past few days that his property is heavily encumbered. The reports culminated last night in the statement that Coxey will be obliged to pay a heavy mortgage on the stallion Acolyte by Wednesday or suffer foreclosure. He bought the horses for $40,000, and paid $16,000 cash.

The "Industrials" Sidetracked.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 26.—The Southern Pacific officials here received word today that the United States Industrial army of several hundred men were put off the trains at a siding near Finley station, on the El Paso division, and that trains were run through without stopping The so called army broke the lock on the switch and threw it open, causing the next eastbound train to take the siding. The men climbed upon the cars and Conductor Martin pulled them to Finley, where he tied up the train pending the arrival of orders. The order came for him to keep the train tied up, as the company had decided not to carry the men. Several other trains have arrived at Finley since, and all are tied up, as the army shows no disposition to let any of the trains depart without them. Finley is an isolated station, and the army will starve out if they remain there a few days.

Hazleton "Recruits" Weaken.

HAZLETON, Pa., March 26.—Not one of the 200 men whom Astor Evans claimed to have enrolled in the Commonweal army responded yesterday. John Hammond, the colored recruit who arrived on Saturday and was arrested for vagrancy, was sent to the hospital His feet, which have been frozen, are decayed for want of medical attention, and the whole of one foot and the toes of the other will have to be amputated.

Two Prisoners Escape.

BELVIDERE, N. J., March 26 — Harry and Charles Dorsey, two well known burglars, escaped from the Warren county jail by climbing through an aperture in the top of a cell to which they had access The hole had been made by prisoners who had previously escaped. Before leaving the jail the prisoners took the precaution to fasten all the prisoners in their cells by means of a bolt lock which is connected with the cell doors They also provided against pursuit by William Johnston, who is acting as "dead watch" on George Andrews a condemned murderer Slipping quietly through the corridor, they approached the murderer's cell, and quickly closing the cell door, locked it.

Robbery, Murder and Arson Suspected.

SHARON, Pa, March 26. — Wheatland, the deserted iron town twenty miles south of here, was the scene yesterday of either a terrible accident or a horrible tragedy. Early in the morning fire broke out in the residence of William Laird and destroyed five of the company's houses After the fire the partially burned body of Laird was found in the ruins Laird's family was away visiting at Youngstown, and he was alone in the house. His watch and money were gone, and the corpse was at least twenty feet from where he had slept. The authorities have strong suspicion that Laird was robbed, killed and his house fired to conceal the crime.

HENRY GEORGE AND THE POPE.

Differences of Opinion as to Whether George's Doctrines Are Condemned.

NEW YORK, March 26.—There was published here yesterday a statement from a Rome correspondent that the holy office has condemned the doctrines of Henry George, and that this condemnation cannot but be followed by some grave consequences.

In view of the fact that Henry George is expected to be a candidate for the mayoralty of this city, such a pronouncement would seriously affect his chances of success. An Associated Press reporter made inquiries as to the truth of the statement.

Rev. James Connelly, secretary to Archbishop Corrigan, said 'Henry George's doctrines were emphatically condemned by the holy see two years ago, and there is no necessity for any further condemnation of them now."

Mr. John D Crimmons did not believe that the holy office had made any recent pronouncement. "The pope," he said, "issued an encyclical two years ago in which he condemned Henry George's theory as to the state ownership of lands. That encyclical dates with the question now as well as when issued."

Mr. Crimmons handed the reporter a copy of the papal encyclical, which is dated May 15, 1891, and emphatically approves of individual ownership of land. It discountenances the establishment of trades unions or societies not based on the principles and teachings of the Catholic church.

Mr. Henry George said: "I do not believe there is any truth in the statement. I don't think the holy office will or can condemn any doctrines. The encyclical does not deal with my doctrines at all, and therefore cannot condemn it. My doctrine is so palpably right that any such condemnation as that spoken of is utterly impossible."

Rev. Dr. Edward McGlynn looked on the statement as absurd. "I am positive," he added, "that it is absolutely false. The inquisition has neither condemned the doctrine of George, nor will it do so. Of that you may rest assured."

It is asserted that the condemnatory stricture on Henry George's doctrine has been forwarded from Rome.

Surrendered Under Peculiar Circumstances

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—A. P. Tonielli, five years ago sentenced to a term in San Quentin, has just surrendered himself to justice under extraordinary circumstances. In 1888 he was sentenced to six months in prison for blackmail. The case was appealed. Tonielli meanwhile furnished $500 cash bail The supreme court affirmed and sent back the remittur, but meanwhile Tonielli had gone east. The remittur was mislaid and the case forgotten. Friday Tonielli appeared before the supreme court and asked to serve his sentence, provided the $500 cash bail was refunded. His wife was dangerously sick, he said, and he was in great need of money. The case was taken under advisement, Judge Stack saying, however, the money would be refunded if Tonielli furnished $1,000 bond.

Affairs in Brazil.

RIO JANEIRO, March 26 —Affairs here are rapidly resuming their normal aspect, and, aside from the damage done to the forts and along the water front by the fire from the insurgent warships, all traces of warfare have disappeared. The past week has been one of general festivity. The government entertains no fear of much further trouble in the south. The insurgent sympathizers claim that the placing of Admiral de Mello at the head of the provisional government will attract many persons to rebel standard, but the government here believes that the insurgent forces will gradually melt away until nothing remains.

An Aristocratic Beggar.

LOUISVILLE, Ky, March 26 — A man named Thomas Edwards, who claims to be a brother of Sir Thomas Edwards, the famous London surgeon, is in jail in New Albany, charged with begging. He has papers to show that his name is Thomas Edwards, and that he was a surgeon in the British navy His own title, he says, is Earl of Grayson. He came to this country last July to see the World's fair Upon arrival in the Windy City he had started on a spree and kept it up until his money was gone and his jewelry pawned.

Indignant Texans.

WHARTON, Tex, March 24 —The anti-lynching league's telegram to Governor Hogg, dated from Chicago, has stirred up great indignation in this and Matagorda counties The sentiment is that Chicago cranks have enough to attend to with their anarchists, and expressions are bitter. The seventeen negroes who murdered Bould are in jail at Matagorda, and the citizens have determined to let the law take its course.

THE WEEK IN CONGRESS

Republicans to Make a Long Fight Against the Tariff Bill.

IT MAY BE PASSED BY JUNE 1.

This Is the Belief of the Democratic Members of the Senate Finance Committee—House Republicans Will Filibuster on Contested Election Cases.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The probabilities are that the week in the senate will be given up largely to matters of minor importance. The McGarrahan bill is on the calendar as unfinished business, and will have the right of way after 2 o'clock today There will be an effort to dispose of this bill before the close of the week, and Senator Hansbrough has given notice that he will again call up the Russian thistle bill immediately after the disposal of the McGarrahan bill. The fortifications appropriation bill is now on the calendar, and in position to be taken up for action at any time Senator Turpie has evinced a desire to have his resolution concerning the annexation of Hawaii voted upon before the tariff bill is taken up, but it is doubtful in the face of Senator Dolph's opposition whether this can be done.

Inquiry among Republican senators as to the policy they will pursue with reference to the tariff bill when it shall reach the senate develops the fact that they are as yet undecided as to whether they will move to recommit the bill upon the commencement of the debate Monday week. This was their first plan, but there are indications that they have reconsidered this determination, at least not at the beginning of the debate.

There is no indication, however, that they have abated their purpose of contending for every point of advantage, and forcing, if possible, full debate on every proposition contained in the bill. They expect the general debate to continue for at least a month, and hope to have every schedule discussed paragraph by paragraph afterwards Some of them intimate that they consider it may be possible by this course to delay action so as to render it impossible to pass upon the bill during the present session.

The purpose of the Democrats is to permit the Republicans to do the greater part of the talking. There will be comparatively few general speeches upon the bill on the Democratic side of the chamber if the members of the finance committee can control the matter. After there shall have been sufficient time for legitimate debate the members of the finance committee will probably ask for continuous sessions The Democratic members of the finance committee think the bill can be disposed of by the 1st of June.

The house will devote the week to the contested election cases. Today is District of Columbia day, and the time is being devoted to the consideration of bills reported from the District of Columbia committee, after which the postoffice appropriation bill, which was under discussion when the house adjourned on Saturday, will be called up and disposed of. According to the arrangement made on Friday the O Neill Joy contested election case will be called up tomorrow. Inasmuch as the Republicans are already committed to the policy of filibustering against the election cases they will consume the entire week The Republicans will demand the presence of a Democratic quorum at every stage in the parliamentary proceedings Every means known to parliamentary law will be used to prevent the seating of O'Neill and English, the Democratic contestants from the Eleventh Missouri and Fifth California districts, respectively Should the cases by any chance be disposed of before the end of the week the house will resume the consideration of the appropriation bills, the army appropriation bill being next in order These routine matters will probably occupy the attention of the house until the tariff bill returns from the senate.

An Aeronaut's Fatal Fall.

CANNES, March 26 —An immense crowd gathered here yesterday to witness a balloon ascent by Aeronaut Wilton, who is well known in America. No car was attached to the balloon, and Wilton ascended hanging to a rope. When 1,500 feet high the balloon was caught in a current of air that carried it rapidly seaward For some unexplained reason the aeronaut let go his hold of the rope and his body shot down with frightful velocity. The accident occurred in full view of the spectators and a number of women in the crowd fainted. His body was recovered. Death must have been almost instantaneous

Rheumatism of twelve years' standing cured. Mr. C. K. Gingrich, Wiconisco, Pa., thus gives vent to his feelings: "For the last twelve years I have been suffering with rheumatism in my right shoulder and arm. After using many remedies without even relief, I became discouraged. As a last resort, I procured Salvation Oil, bathing freely, and the result is I can now work, make free use of my arm without pain, and feel twelve years younger."

It May Do As Much for You.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe Kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so called kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to the cure of all Kidney and liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Prices only 50c. for large bottle at McMonagle & Rogers Drug store.

PROFESSOR GARNER RETURNS.

The "Monkey Man" Learned Little from Contact with Simians.

NEW YORK, March 26 —Professor Richard L. Garner, the "monkey man," so called because he is attempting to learn the language of the gorilla and chimpanzee, has returned to New York. He tells a very interesting but not valuable story of his studies of the habits of the gorilla.

He left this city in July, 1892, and made his studies in Lake Fernan Vaz, about one degree distant from the equator Here he set up his steel cage in a dense jungle and waited for developments. He had no phonograph and his photographic apparatus would not work. He remained in the cage from April 25, 1893, until Aug. 6, 1893, and during that time saw many gorillas.

He has learned six or eight words of the chimpanzee language and thinks they have about forty or fifty altogether. Gorillas, he insists, have marital relations, but they are polygamous, and they are not by any means vicious. The vocal organs are exactly like that of a man, and he brought several specimens back with him. He will lecture in this country until he raises money enough to take him back to Africa and continue his studies of monkey life.

A Burglar Shot Down.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 26.—C. J. Boyle, owner of a grocery at Plymouth, was aroused from his slumbers about 2 o'clock in the morning by hearing some one walking around in the store room. He finally heard the door close and, looking out the window, he saw the intruder carrying off a sack of flour. In less than twenty minutes the thief came back, and re-entered the store. When he picked up another sack of flour Boyle, who was concealed in the store, shouted to him to halt. The burglar paid no attention, and Boyle fired, the ball entering the back of the thief, who fell. The burglar was found to be George Jones, a well known character about town. He said his family was in need of flour to keep them from starving It is not thought that he will die.

Hundreds of Cattle Killed.

BUFFALO, Wyo., March 26.—Last week's blizzard, continuing seventy hours, has never been approached in severity by any other in this locality. Traffic is entirely suspended, and communication by wire with the outside world has only just been restored. Snow is drifted from ten to twenty feet deep in every direction. The mail coach took five days making one trip from Clearmont, thirty miles. The loss of stock is terrible. In one herd near Buffalo, containing stock which had been fed all winter, over 20 per cent. perished. The loss of range stock will likely be one-half.

Governor Waite's Powers.

DENVER, March 26 —The supreme court handed down a written reply to the questions propounded by Governor Waite last week as to who are the legal members of the fire and police boards. The decision declares that the governor had the power to remove Orr and Martin, but had no right to call out the militia to oust them. The old board, notwithstanding the decision, does not intend to give up the control of the departments. The supreme court does not expressly say that it must, and the lawyers, as usual, are reading the opinion both ways.

Mother and Baby Cremated.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—Mrs. Jennie Irving Ross and her 5-months-old babe were burned to death in a fire which occurred at the residence of her father, A. K Irving, at 3 o'clock in the morning. Mrs. Irving, the mother of Mrs. Ross, 70 years of age, jumped from a back window and sustained probably fatal injuries. Miss Carrie Irvingmon, jumping from a window, ruptured the tendons of her leg, and may be a cripple for life. The fire was evidently of incendiary origin.

A Determined Lover.

TERRE ALTA, W Va, March 26 —Frank Lee and Charles Groves settled at fisticuffs the question of which should escort Fannie Barnes home from an entertainment. Groves won. Upon reaching the girl's home her father assaulted Groves, who gave the old man a vigorous drubbing Barnes had Groves arrested, and after being fined Groves left the court room, eloped to Maryland with the girl, married her, came back Saturday and was forgiven.

[illegible] McCoy, [illegible] Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is unqualified satisfaction to [illegible]: "Dr Bull's Cough Syrup is the best remedy that I have ever used. I had such a cough and cold I could hardly speak above a whisper and I took one twenty five cent bottle of the syrup and am now all right."

SUSIE MARTIN MURDER

An Arrest Made in Connection with the Terrible Crime.

THE PRISONER IS A CHINAMAN.

He Keeps a Laundry on Tenth Avenue, and His Arrest Was Caused by the Written Statement of a Deaf and Dumb Man.

NEW YORK, March 26 —Under lock and key at police headquarters is confined a man who may be the author of the horrible tragedy in "Hell's Kitchen." His name is Sam Sing, and he keeps a Chinese laundry at 520 Tenth avenue Ward Detective Hay received a letter signed by R. McCann, who lives within a block of the place where the mutilated trunk of Susie Martin was found On the evening of St. Patrick's Day McCann was standing on the northwest corner of Tenth avenue and Thirty-ninth street. Stevenson's brewery is located here, adjoining the tenement in the cellar of which the murderer deposited the remains of his victim.

About 9 o'clock, McCann writes, he saw a man in a blouse dodging along the sidewalk in a shadow afforded by a line of empty trucks. He carried a bundle under his arm. When opposite No 517 he looked about, and then disappeared in the open doorway of the tenement. In fifteen minutes he came out This time he was minus the bundle McCann recognized him as laundryman Sam Sing.

McCann is deaf and dumb He kept his knowledge to himself until he happened to read the account of the crime in the newspapers.

The letter was turned over to Detectives Crowley and Rogers. They went to Sam Sing's laundry and searched the place thoroughly. They overturned tubs and kettles and ransacked every possible nook, even going so far as to jab holes in the ceiling. What the detectives found is not yet known, but they took away with them Sam Sing, a hand saw that he had been repairing in a back room, and also an ironing board.

Killed by His Wife and Daughter.

HOMER, Ga, March 26.—J F. Willis was killed last week by his daughter Lillian and his wife. The news of the tragedy did not leak out for several days until a son, Francis, 11 years of age, told it to neighbors. Daughter and mother were both arrested and given a preliminary trial. The boy testified that his father came home from work about dark and called for his supper. After beginning to eat his meal a difficulty arose between the father and mother, but the former sat down before the fire when Lillian, about 15 years of age, struck him with the ax, cutting a gash in his skull. Willis threw back his head and the mother took the ax from the girl and cut him across the throat with it. Willis died a few minutes later. The daughter claimed she did the killing to save her mother's life, and a jury promptly acquitted her

A Female Swindler Captured.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Recently an advertisement appeared in a Boston paper offering for sale two Columbia bicycles for $135 Correspondents who answered the advertisement received answers from "Rev." George Goodwin asking that $5 be sent on to pay for shipment, the balance to be collected when the bicycles arrived. That was the last heard from "Mr Goodwin" John Mooney, of Boston, who had sent on the $5, started an investigation, with the result that a young lady was arrested on Saturday, and is now in jail pending an examination She refuses to give her name.

Freezing Weather in Michigan.

DETROIT, March 26 —Dispatches from various sections of Michigan report the temperature at far below the freezing point everywhere. The temperature is below freezing as far south as Tennessee and northern Arkansas. The cold wave in Michigan is accompanied by northwest winds and light snows in some portions. The cold wave will prove a fearful calamity to all fruit growers, as the warm weather had started the buds of early peaches, grapes and blackberries

A Celebrated English Will Contest.

LONDON, March 26 —The trial of the great Sutherland will case has been fixed to begin on June 1. This is an action brought by the Downger Duchess of Sutherland to have the probate division of her majesty's high court of justice declare valid the will and codicils made by her deceased husband, by the terms of which she was to benefit to the extent of £1,000,000 sterling, The present Duke of Sutherland, who is the stepson of the plaintiff, will contest the case to the bitter end.

This preparation has for years past been making a brilliant success as a remedy for cold in the head, catarrh and hay fever. Used in the initial of these complaints Cream Balm prevents any serious developement of the symptoms, while almost numberless cases are on record of radical cures of chronic catarrh and hay fever after all other treatments have proved of no avail.

THE BLUE AND THE GRAY.

Preparations For a Grand Reunion on the Battlefield of Shiloh.

The veterans of Shiloh are to hold a grand reunion on that historic battlefield on April 6 and 7, the anniversary of the battle. Invitations have been extended to every living participant in the famous engagement, no matter in which army, and strong hopes are expressed that many thousands of them will attend. Federals and Confederates will alike participate in the reunion, the blue and the gray will be equally honored, and "Yanks" and "Johnny rebs" will fraternize on the field where 32 years ago they sought to exterminate each other. Among the prominent men who will be present are General Lew Wallace, General John A. McClernand of Illinois, General B. M. Prentiss of Missouri, General S. D. Lee of Mississippi, General James R. Chalmers of Tennessee, General William Preston Johnson of New Orleans and others.

GENERAL M'CLERNAND.

The preservation of the battlefield of Shiloh as a national memorial park is a matter that has engaged the earnest attention for several years of many of the survivors of the troops on both sides who met there in the terrible battle of April 6 and 7, 1862. The Shiloh Battlefield association, which has this for its main object, now numbers among its members some 10,000 of the Federal and Confederate soldiers who fought at Shiloh, representing every regiment, battery and command that took part in the battle. All these are anxious that the field be preserved from the desecrating march of "improvement," that the graves of the unknown dead on both sides who are buried there be properly cared for, and that the positions of the various commands in the contest be marked while there are men yet living who can properly locate them.

The association has brought the matter to the attention of congress and has done a great deal of work in the way of influencing public opinion in favor of its project. It recently sent a committee to the battlefield and secured options on the land from the various owners at what are thought to be very reasonable prices.

Colonel E. T. Lee, secretary of the association, on behalf of its committee, reported to the congressional committee what had been done, and it is very likely that an appropriation will soon be secured for the purchase of the land and the maintenance of a memorial park like those at Gettysburg and Chickamauga. Major General John A. McClernand of Springfield, Ills., who commanded a division at the battle, is president of the association.

HELEN GOULD'S CHARITY.

A Fresh Air Home For City Children Near the Hudson.

As is generally known, Miss Helen Gould is trying to do as much good as possible with her portion of the colossal fortune amassed by her father. One of the most worthy of her numerous philanthropic enterprises is the fresh air home for city children and teachers at Woody Crest, near Tarrytown, on the Hudson. The house was the property of the late Jay Gould and is situated a quarter of a mile from Miss Helen Gould's favorite country place, Lyndhurst. The home is a spacious old fashioned structure two stories high, with a gable roof. Below can be seen the pleasant homes and gardens of Tarrytown. In the distance, broad and blue, sparkling in the sunlight, the Hudson, dotted by river craft, meets the eye, while clustering about the house rises a grove of stately pines.

This is an ideal rural retreat for invalids and those whose lives have been spent in the teeming tenements and noisome streets of the metropolis. Every two weeks, beginning early this spring, from 30 to 50 children will enjoy an outing at Woody Crest. The children will come from kindergartens and day nurseries in New York, and often a sick, tired mother will go with her little one.

During the winter Woody Crest was the home of a small colony of little cripples, most of them incurables and all of them waifs and strays on the great sea of humanity, who there experience the only happiness their poor hopeless lives can ever hope to know. Books and games are provided for their amusement, and they pass their time out of doors in pleasant weather or in a playroom and workshop that has been fitted up for them in the house, where they can indulge in such instructive amusements as printing and scroll sawing, for which the means are provided.

The Southern Snow Line.

One hundred miles north of Key West is the farthest part south in Florida that snow has ever been known to fall.

The Peddler Tells You,

possibly, that Pearline is too good for ordinary uses; he says, "of course it's nice enough for delicate things, but what I have is just as good for scrubbing, scouring, etc., and is cheaper." Now, we say this: Pearline is the best to use for everything, and the best is the cheapest, in the end. It does its work better—more easily, more quickly, more satisfactorily, more safely. Pearline is cheap enough for any use. These imitations are dear at any price and for almost any purpose. Compare the value of the things ruined with the small amount of money saved by the use of cheap powders.

Send it Back When peddlers or unscrupulous grocers tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline," IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 384 JAMES PYLE, New York.

CORNS IN COURT.

A Novel Case In an Oregon Court In Which a Lady Offers to Show Her Feet.

Spectators in Justice Wood's court yesterday morning enjoyed an hour of comedy, in which H. D. Carmine and wife and Mrs. Luella Runyon were the principal actors.

Carmine was on trial on charges of assaulting Mrs. Runyon and tearing and destroying a cape belonging to her. The complaining witness testified that she was a chiropodist, and that she had contracted with Mrs. Carmine, who is a dressmaker, for some dresses and a cape, agreeing to tender her professional services in return. When the dresses, etc., were completed, Mrs. Runyon called for them, but found that Mrs. Carmine didn't need her services, but wanted her money. Carmine interfered in the trouble which followed and managed to tear the cape and get himself mixed up with the justice's court.

When Carmine was placed on the stand and had told his version of the affair, he was asked if his wife was troubled with corns or bunions. The attorneys for the defense excitedly objected to this and had a wordy war with Deputy District Attorney Malarkey, which resulted in a victory for the defense, the court holding that a husband was not supposed to tell all he knew in regard to his wife.

When Mrs. Carmine took the stand, however, the objection no longer held, and she was compelled to admit that she had a small corn which "never troubled her." In the discussion of corns and bunions which followed Mrs. Runyon demanded that Mrs. Carmine allow the court to examine her feet, and Mrs. Carmine won the day by spiritedly replying that she was willing to do so if the court thought it necessary.

Carmine was discharged from custody.—Portland Oregonian.

THE SINS OF FASHION.

A Cincinnati Young Lady Couldn't Take the Sacrament Because of a Tight Veil.

A most shocking yet ludicrous thing occurred Sunday morning in one of the leading churches of this city. A beautiful young woman was the person guilty.

She was elegantly attired and wore one of those peculiar veils that fit closely over the bonnet and face and tie in a sort of hangman's noose under the left ear. After an eloquent and impressive sermon the bread in silver salvers was passed down the aisles by the members of the session. The lady who wore the curious veil took a piece of bread and tried to slip the knot at the ear, failing in which she vainly endeavored to put the morsel of bread under the veil into her mouth, but she only drew the loop tighter. She blushed, grew vexed and tossed the typical fragment of bread carelessly into the aisle. The elder turned just in time to observe her, and the plate almost fell from his hands. Several other faces took on a horrified expression and then a smile.

The fashionable young woman would have given her hope of heaven to have been able to retreat from those glances, but quick as she was after the service to reach the door she was not soon enough to escape the minister, who reprimanded her privately on the sins of fashion. —Cincinnati Tribune.

AN ESTATE WITHOUT HEIRS.

A Rich South Dakota Cattleman Dies Suddenly Without Making a Will.

A Chamberlain (S. D.) special says that the immense herd of cattle branded "J. B. S." ranging in Lyman county has been levied on by the treasurer of that county for taxes. The owner of the herd was John B. Smith, who is reported to have died suddenly in Minneapolis while on a business trip to that city some weeks ago. The Lyman county authorities, however, have no proof of his death, and there is no record in the probate court of that county showing that his estate has ever been probated. Parties claiming to have held a mortgage on the stock, but who are now known to be rustlers, have been running the cattle out of the country without any process of foreclosure, and the county treasurer finally came to the conclusion that it was time for him to act and accordingly levied on the balance of the cattle for the taxes due. Nearly 10,000 cattle were run out of the country.

Smith left from $8,000 to $10,000 in life insurance besides the large herd of cattle in question. It is regarded as very peculiar that his heirs have never attempted to settle the accounts of the deceased cattleman.

The Athletic Chaplain of the House.

The new chaplain of the house is one of the greatest athletes in the body and would make an admirable sergeant-at-arms. Chaplain Bagby is tall, slight and beardless, and he makes the shortest prayers that have been heard in the house for years. He is the youngest man who has been elected chaplain in the lower branch and is only 28 years old now. He is a southerner to his finger tips, but with any amount of real northern activity. All his life has been spent in the south, except during the few years that he studied theology at Yale. He is a splendid tennis player and wields the racket like a Hovey. His specialty is revival work, and he has had wonderful success in awakening religious enthusiasm. But he does not try to convert the congressmen.—Washington Letter.

Demanded Gold For His Cotton.

A few days ago Mr. Cole Nall was asked by a big farmer in this county to go out and buy his cotton, which he had not sold for three years. Mr. Nall went out, weighed and classified the cotton, which amounted to $14,000. Mr. Nall was about to write a check for that amount when the farmer said he would not accept anything but $5 goldpieces. Mr. Nall went to the New South Savings bank and got 2,800 $5 goldpieces and carried them to him, whereupon the farmer got out a jug and counted them into it for burial purposes.—Barnesville (Ga.) Journal.

AN ACTIVE OLD MAN.

Plowing the Garden and Splitting Wood, Though in His Ninety first Year.

Pinesville Correspondence of the Walton Reporter.

John Laust, of Pine's Brook, now in his ninety first year, is still giving examples of industry to the rising generation. During the winter that has passed he has been busy at something almost every day. Since his ninetieth birthday, which occurred November 23d, he has cut with a buck-saw over ten cords of wood. Monday, March 19th, he requested the hitching of the horses to the plow, and with his own hands guided the implement and plowed the garden plot containing a quarter of an acre. In the afternoon he split from blocks and prepared all ready for the kitchen stove one and one-half cords of wood. Wednesday forenoon he visited a friend and neighbor living two miles away, returning before dinner time.

DELAWARE COUNTY FINANCES.

Estimates and Appropriations Too Low and a Big Debt Accumulated.

Delaware county's Supervisors have tried to keep up the appearance of economy by making estimates and appropriations for county expenses that were too low, and have covered up the deficiency by authorizing the Treasurer to borrow money on the credit of the county. This had been going on for several years, and the accumulated deficiency amounted to over $30,000. Then a new policy was adopted, and not only was enough appropriated to pay current expenses, but $5,000 was raised annually for three years to be applied to the payment of the deficiency, thus reducing the amount of $15,000. Further payments were then abandoned, and the deficiency has been carried along for several years, until now the demand is made by the best sentiment of the county that the Supervisors put its affairs on a business basis.

AN EXPLOSIVE MIXTURE.

A Druggist Blown Up by a Compound of His Own Making.

From the Norwich Sun.

A curious and painful accident happened to Burdette F. Hubbard, the pharmacist, at Mitchell's drug store, Thursday evening, while compounding a prescription. A mixture of croton oil, sulphuric ether and tincture of iodine was being put in a thin glass bottle, when, with the force of dynamite, the bottle exploded and filled Mr. Hubbard's face and eyes with the burning liquid. The burns were painful and the sight of the eyes threatened, but at a late hour, last night, word was received from the doctor in charge, that the patient was resting comfortably, and would probably not lose the sight of both eyes.

Very Careless With a Gun.

Referring to the shooting of two girls at Horton's, Delaware county, Saturday, March 17th, by the discharge of a gun in the hands of George Farber, the Walton Reporter says that people in the neighborhood are beginning to wonder whether the shooting was really accidental. This is the third time that guns in Farber's hands have been discharged in different houses and people are beginning to think these accidents altogether too common.

Reducing Force on the Erie.

Ten road crews and all extra conductors and flagmen on the Susquehanna division of the Erie have been laid off. On the Western division extra engineers have been set back firemen and fifteen firemen have been laid off. The discharged men have been notified that they will be taken back when the business of the road improves.

At the Casino, To-morrow Night.

"The Soudan" with its wealth of stage effects and wonderful scenery will be presented at the Casino, to-morrow night. Beyond all cavil it is one of the strongest plays ever put on the road. The plot itself is intensely interesting, and the wonderful series of stage pictures with which it abound makes it doubly so.

PAPA FLEUTELOT, MISER.

A French Millionaire Who Begged In the Streets and Died In Filth.

A miser of the story book type died about two weeks ago in Auxerre, France. Although he never had wife or children, he was known to all persons in the city as Papa Fleutelot. He had been a public figure for a generation and could be seen daily in storm or sunshine tottering in his rags through the streets to gather odd bits of coal and wood and cigar stumps. Papa Fleutelot died in his eighty-fifth year and was buried in the potter's field. The French police, who suspect everything, still suspected the old man's pretenses of poverty, despite the recent shifting of public opinion, and they searched the hut in which he had lived and died. Filth was ankle deep up stairs and knee deep in the cellar. The first search was rewarded only with the discovery of 400 bottles of Bordeaux, vintage of 1790. The second search, however, revealed a hole in the cellar wall, behind a pile of indescribable dirt. From this hole the police dragged a chest, and in the chest they found the treasure. From top to bottom it was stuffed full with mortgages, government bonds, shares in stock companies and title deeds. All showed the keenness of Papa Fleutelot in investing his savings, for without exception the securities were of the highest class. Their face value was 1,000,000 francs, but as many of the bonds and stocks are above par they can be sold for a much larger sum.

For more than 11 years the old man had neglected to clip his coupons. He had let them accumulate until they represented a market value of 140,000 francs.

Among the many pieces of real estate whose ownership was revealed by the contents of the chest is a large tract of land near Villeneuve-sur-Yonne. On this land there are 400 acres of fine forest and several buildings of the ancient indestructible make. It had been more than 40 years since anybody at Villeneuve knew who owned the estate. When Papa Fleutelot died in his hovel, but 20 centimes, or less than 5 cents, was his total cash capital. As was expected, the usual number of heirs have appeared since the old man's body was buried in the potter's field. They affect to believe that still more treasure is concealed in his hut, and they are taking it down piece by piece in the hope of enriching themselves.—Paris Exchange.

A LONG CHASE.

A Detective Followed a Man Seven Thousand Miles For Stealing $5.

Seven thousand miles for a prisoner was the record made by Postoffice Inspector C. H. Waterbary, and his story told in United States Marshal Haskell's office rivaled in interest the tales of some of the great French detectives. The national government never forgives a crime, no matter what the circumstances, and cold blooded justice is always demanded. In Haskell's private office was seated W. Y. Dressler, a young man belonging to one of the best and wealthiest families in Hanoverton, O. Last summer Dressler was traveling with T. R. Howard of Kansas City and George Hartson in New Mexico, and Howard confided to his friend that his mother was to send him a money order for $5. They were in Albuquerque at the time, and Dressler got the letter, opened it, forged Howard's name and stole the money.

The postoffice authorities were notified, and on Oct. 13 Dressler fled from Albuquerque with Waterbury, one of the shrewdest detectives in the secret service, on his trail.

"I chased him to Los Angeles," said Waterbury, "and there I lost him, but I got trace of him in Santiago, where he led a merry life. I reached San Francisco nearly as soon as he did, but he was away like a deer, and I entered Yuma just as he was leaving. From there I followed him to Tucson, but he dodged me, and I next found his tracks in El Paso, Tex. From there he jumped to Texarkana and then disappeared toward Ohio. I communicated with Marshal Haskell. He detailed a man, and together we journeyed to Dressler's home, arresting the young man in his father's house." Dressler will be taken to Denver for trial.—Cleveland Leader.

Curiosity of Easter Day This Year.

Easter day falls on Lady day this year for the first time in the history of the United States. The last time these two days fell together was in 1742, and they will not clash again until 1951. Lady day has somewhat lost its significance and importance of late years, and it has never been such a special day in this country as in some others where the leasing and renting system is more general.

It is still, however, the first quarter day of the year, and although for convenience rents and premiums are generally made payable on March 31 the law in some states still recognizes March 25 as quarter day. Easter has to fall exceptionally early to come into contact with Lady day, and the coincidence will cause inconvenience in countries where a legal holiday and a legal payday will be simultaneous.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Against the House of Lords.

The parliamentary committee of the trade unions congress, which is the cabinet of the British Liberal party, has been holding several secret sittings in London, making preliminary arrangements for the great demonstration in Hyde park against the house of lords. The announcement of the subject will be publicly made as soon as the peers have finally finished with the employers' liability bill, and the killing of that labor measure will be made the pretext for the promised display, the dimensions of which will probably exceed anything of the kind in recent years. The London trades council is prepared to march 250,000 men into the park, and there will be imposing delegations from the provinces.—London Cable.

The Seigniorage Puzzle.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The letters and telegrams which for the past week have been pouring in upon the president in regard to his action on the seigniorage bill continue to fill the White House mail bag, if anything increasing in numbers. It is stated that there are ten requests for a veto to one asking the president to sign the bill. The president may hold the bill until Friday, March 30, and on that day return it to the house with his veto or signature, as the case may be. The indications are, however, that the president will not allow the ten days to pass and the bill become a law without executive action.

Got the Drop on a Desperado.

OKLAHOMA CITY, O. T., March 26.—Hank Cunningham, a noted character in the territory, was shot and killed yesterday by W. J. McClure, a well known and wealthy stockman, in a saloon. Cunningham was drinking heavily, and evidently determined to quarrel. He finally said he was going to get his Winchester and kill McClure. He went out, and just as he opened the door on returning, with gun in hand, McClure riddled him with bullets.

The notices are confined to the Jews, nearly all of whom have received them. The notices demand that the Hebrews shall leave the city before May 15, saying that "unless you do so you will be hanged by the neck."

SHENANDOAH, Pa., March 26.—Matthew J. Andrukatis, aged 47 years, shot himself fatally in the office of Dr. Szlupas, while waiting for the physician. He attempted to remove a revolver from a high shelf and the weapon was discharged. Before dying Andrukatis said the shooting was accidental. He didn't know it was loaded.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands can testify. Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most, of the remedies in general use afford but temporary relief. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes. Ely's Cream Balm, which is so highly commended, is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power, with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient. The druggists all sell it.

MONDAY, MARCH 26, 1894.

The salary of Chicago Aldermen is $3 a week, but it is said by thrift and economy some of them save enough in a year to be able to put up $10,000 for re-election.

A French peasant woman who landed in Philadelphia, last week, had thirteen children with her, and in answer to questions of the immigration officials she said that she had had twelve others who had died in France. She was on her way to join her husband in a Western State.

The Hill Democrats in Albany have joined forces with the Republicans and have endorsed their candidate for Mayor in opposition to the regular Democratic candidate. The mongrel combination labels itself the "honest elections party," but it cares more for spoils and revenge than for honest elections. Odious and contemptible as is such a coalition, the open hostility of the Hill gang to the regular Democratic organization is an improvement on their attitude in the campaign of 1892, when they basely betrayed their party and "knifed" the Democratic electoral ticket at the polls.

The New York Times is actively engaged in the investigation of pension frauds and abuses. Its method is a very simple one. It sends its representatives into different localities, where they inquire into the physical condition of disability pensioners. Some of the results published, names and places being given, would be startling, if every community had not become accustomed to seeing men apparently in the enjoyment of robust health and engaged in occupations which make great demands on strength and endurance, in the receipt of pensions for "disabilities," alleged to have been contracted in the service. The Times seems to have no difficulty in obtaining information as to fraudulent pensions, and it is surprising, to say the least, that Commissioner Lochren should acknowledge that the Pension Bureau cannot obtain evidence of such abuses and proposes to make use of the information furnished by the Times.

TARIFF LEGISLATION.

Under this head the Monticello Watchman, whose editor is a member of the Democratic State Committee, speaks out in the following very plain and positive language:

"Evidence accumulates that a combination of Democratic Senators with Republicans is bent on defeating the Wilson bill, or so changing it as to make it more objectionable to the voters who called Mr. Cleveland to the presidency, than is the McKinley bill.

"In this combination are Gorman, Brice, Pugh, and, we regret to say, both Senators from this State. These men are misrepresenting the party which sent them to Washington.

"The country will hold the Democratic party responsible for its failure to redeem its promises and pledges, solemnly made in convention, reiterated through the canvass, and endorsed at the polls.

"In its turn the party will hold to a most rigid responsibility all leaders who, through selfishness, or factional opposition to the administration prevent the adoption of the policy demanded by the people at the ballot box in November, 1892.

"If the tariff reform promises made by the Democratic party in 1892, are now to be broken, the country will have no further use for a party, who will so weakly and wickedly forfeit its confidence.

"Then it will be that the party will deal out retribution to the statesmen whose action brought calamity upon it."

THE ARMOR PLATE FRAUDS

Secretary Herbert's Statement of the Administration's Action.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Secretary Herbert sent, to-day, to Speaker Crisp, a full statement of the condition of affairs that led to the imposition of the fine upon the Carnegie company.

After reciting the manner in which the Navy Department learned of the frauds, he says that the matter was thoroughly investigated and he became convinced that the government had been imposed upon, but that the officers of the Carnegie company were not parties to the fraud, and that no armor plates for testing had been fraudulently treated for such tests before Nov. 3d, 1892, or after Sept. 16th, 1893. Secretary Herbert submits a letter from President Cleveland in regard to the matter, in which the President states that he is anxious to do justice to the Carnegie company, and in his opinion they should forfeit ten per cent. of the value of the armor made in the period specified, $140,489 44, and on these terms settlement was made.

May Set the Tramps at Work Breaking Stone

During the past month Elmira lodged and breakfasted 220 tramps and for several months the average has been 200. The expense is quite considerable and the advisability of starting a stone yard and making the tramps break stone in return for food and shelter is being discussed. It is recalled that a few years ago when a stone yard was run by the city, there was a marked falling off in the number of tramps who enjoyed the city's hospitality.

EASTER SUNDAY SERVICES.

HOW THE DAY WAS CELEBRATED IN MIDDLETOWN.

Lowering Clouds and Mist Could Not Keep the People from Church—Large Attendances at All the Services—Eloquent Sermons and Fine Musical Programmes.

There was doubtless much disappointment, especially among the ladies, when Easter Sunday opened cloudy, and, later when the rain began to fall. Although Easter came too early this year for every lady to have her new spring bonnet, there were a few new hats that even the rain did not prevent their owners from wearing, and naturally these ladies were the centre of attraction and the envy of all their sisters.

In spite of the weather all the churches were crowded at all the services, even the 6 o'clock services at Grace Church being well attended.

The Easter decorations were elaborate in all the churches, although the absence of any special design in the arrangement of the flowers was noticeable. The flowers mostly consisted of Easter lilies and hyacinths and these were grouped upon the platforms together with palms and ferns, except at Grace and St. Joseph's churches, where the decorations were placed upon and at the sides of the altars. There was an attempt at design in the arrangement of the flowers at the Second Presbyterian Church, where the Easter lilies were arranged in three rows, the first just reaching a little above the level of the platform, the next about two feet higher and the third on a level with the top of the rail of the choir loft, the spaces between the lilies being filled with other plants. There was a beautiful cross made of white flowers on the front of the pulpit of the First Congregational Church.

AT THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The pulpit and choir gallery were trimmed with palms and lillies. A very large audience was present at the 11 o'clock service. Rev. Dr. Gordon discoursed on the "Sense proofs of Christ's resurrection," and the choir sang several Easter pieces.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Adams, who are usually present and relied on upon such occasions, were absent because of the death of Mrs. Weed. A substitute was procured for Mrs. C. H. Sweezy at the organ, and her voice was heard to good advantage in the choir. She sang the anthem, "I know that my Redeemer liveth," with a sweetness and expression that could not be surpassed. A solo by Miss Julia Wickham was also beautifully rendered.

In the afternoon the Christian Endeavor Society had charge, and the attendance was large. There were addresses by Messrs. H. B. Woodward, Floyd W. Morgans and Alexis McNulty. They were all excellent, and were listened to with the closest attention.

The Sunday school had missionary services at 9:30 a. m.

SECOND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The services at the Second Presbyterian Church were appropriate to Easter. At the morning service Dr. Beattie preached a sermon on the resurrection.

The choir, under the leadership of Mr. George W. Clark, sang two anthems: "Christ is Risen" and "Coming to the Sepulchre." In the latter there were solo parts by Mr. Clark, Mr. Marvin, Miss Bradner and Miss Benjamin.

The subject of the evening sermon was "Buried, with the burial of an ass," Jeremiah xxii:19, being the prophecy of the death of King Jehoiakim. It was a strong and able discourse and was very impressive.

THE FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

At the First Congregational Church the morning sermon and the music was appropriate to Easter day. In the evening the pastor, Dr. W. A. Robinson, told an Easter story in lieu of a sermon. It was the story of Christ's ministry, the crucifixt on and the resurrection, in the form of a narrative, and was even more interesting than would have been an ordinary sermon upon the same subject. The musical programme for the morning and evening was as follows:

1. Anthem—Hallelujah ..... Loud
2. Hymn, No. 334—..... "Our Lord is Risen"
3. Anthem—"Christ, our Passover"..... Hewitt
4. Offertory—Solo—"Easter Dawn..... Dessler
   Miss Landon
5. Hymn, No. 343—"I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" .....

The programme for the evening service was follows:

1. Anthem—"Oh Risen Lord"..... Barnby
2. Hymn, No. 351—"The Lord is Risen Indeed."
3. Anthem—"Approach and Behold"..... Macy
4. Hymn, No. 365—"Oh the Son of Glorious Splendor."

AT GRACE CHURCH.

Yesterday was a day of continuous praise in Grace Church. From dawn to dark, thanksgiving and the voice of melody resounded. The early celebration, at 6 a. m., was attended by exactly one hundred communicants, the service being choral, with full boy choir. At 11 o'clock, the church was crowded. An elaborate musical programme had been prepared by Organist Wickham and was admirably rendered by the choir. Dr. Danforth's cultured voice was heard to great advantage in Holden's "Resurrection," while one of Mr. Wickham's own compositions, his brilliant setting of the creed and "Gloria in Excelsis" were perhaps the most generally admired. The children's carol service, at 3 p. m., was a very happy feature of the day. The rector and Mr. Gedney made short addresses and the Lenten pyramids were presented. In the evening again the church was full, and another fine musical service was rendered. The offerings amounted to about $500.

The musical programme for the several services was as follows:

AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

The Easter services at St. Paul's church yesterday, were largely attended and very interesting. Rev. Dr. Darwood preached in the morning on the subject, "An Empty Tomb," and in the evening the Sunday school held a missionary service, consisting of singing, responsive readings, and a short address by the pastor. The missionary money, which members of the school have been collecting for the past two weeks reported at this service and prizes were awarded two of the scholars who received the largest amount. Miss Lulu Cudney received the first prize, a five dollar gold piece, and Miss Christina Iseman the second prize, an elegant bible.

A choice collection of potted plants adorned the pulpit platform.

AT ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH.

At St. Joseph's Church there were three services, a low mass at 9 a. m., a high mass and sermon at 11 a. m. and vespers at 6:30 p. m. The church was crowded at all the services and the Easter offerings were more than usually generous, about $800 being the receipts for the day.

FREE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

At the Free Christian Church the Easter musical programme was as follows:

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

At this church, there was a large attendance at all the services. A noteworthy feature of the morning service, was "The Resurrection," which was beautifully sung by Miss Millicent Lain.

The Sunday School exercises at 12:15 were made specially interesting by recitations and singing appropriate to the day and by addresses by teachers.

At the evening service, eighteen converts were baptised.

ANOTHER VICTIM.

An Aged Michigan Woman Loses $12,000 on the Moss Grown Gold Brick Swindle.

With eyes brimful of happy anticipation an aged woman presented two "kings" of bright metal to the chief weigher at the mint. She believed that the two lumps of metal were gold worth $30,000, and when informed that they were but copper and zinc, worth $2 or $3, she turned away with a heavy heart and sought the train to bear her back to her home in Jackson, Mich. She had paid $12,000 for the stuff and had journeyed all the way east to realize upon it.

The story of the unfortunate woman's loss was told to the mint officials. She was Mrs. Harriet Morgan, who resides in Jackson, and with her were her son-in-law, Charles Helleg, and Dr. Blanchard, the family physician. Some 18 years ago Mrs. Morgan, who is quite wealthy, had advanced to a nephew $6,000 to start a business. He was profuse in his expressions of gratitude and promised that as business prospered with him he would return the loan with ample interest. The nephew went away, and his aunt heard nothing of him until recently. She had about abandoned hope of securing the return of her loan, when one day a stranger came to her with the announcement that he represented her nephew. The latter had prospered well in gold mining, and as an evidence of his success had sent her two gold bricks or "kings." These weighed fully 85 pounds and were worth $30,000. These the nephew desired to present to his aunt in return for her loan and another small payment. Mrs. Morgan, delighted, paid the stranger $6,000 and received the "kings," which she guarded carefully.—Philadelphia Record.

STATESMEN WORRIED.

A Great Question Which Is Agitating the British House of Commons.

The great question whether waiters ought to be tipped is just now agitating the house of commons a good deal more than the fight with the lords over the employers' liability and parish councils bills, of which, truth to tell, everybody is getting a bit tired. But the tip question affects the private pockets of the honorable members, and their interest in it is consequently keen. It has always been the rule in the commons that the waiters in the dining rooms should not receive tips because living wages are paid to them, but of late years tipping has pretty generally prevailed, and the men learned to expect tips as much as though they were common cafe waiters. A goodly proportion of the members, however, refused to countenance the system, with the result that they have of late found themselves neglected. Recently there have been so many complaints that the kitchen committee solemnly appointed a subcommittee to inquire, and the result was the issuing of an order prohibiting waiters from receiving tips and granting to each waiter an increase of a shilling a day. The waiters calmly pocket the shilling, but continue to take the tips whenever they get a chance, and it has become a question what shall be done with the honorable and right honorable gentlemen who thus defy committees and subcommittees.—New York Sun's London Letter.

A SNEEZING BEE.

Red Pepper Was Thrown on a Hot Stove — With the Regulation Results.

Some one threw red pepper upon a large stove in Tappen's billiard rooms at Patchogue, N. Y. The pepper started the habitues to sneezing, and they sneezed loud and long. The odor of the burning pepper soon drove everybody from the room.

The fumes rapidly spread through the building. The Order of Foresters was holding a meeting in the large hall on an upper floor. The members began to sneeze. They sneezed hard. The chaplain of the society tried to maintain the dignity of his position, but he, too, soon joined in the sneezing bee.

The assembly marched down stairs sneezing at every step. They were soon joined on the street by lawyers, doctors, editors, printers and business men, who had been driven out of their rooms in the building. The fumes were so strong that passersby had to walk on the opposite side of Ocean avenue.

The joke will cost Tappen the use of his rooms, as the owner of the building has notified him to vacate within 10 days. Tappen, it is said, will prosecute the perpetrator of the joke if discovered.—New York Times.

A Murderer's Light Sentence.

During the cholera scare in Vienna some months ago a rule was made forbidding persons visiting restaurants to squeeze small rolls on the tables to test their freshness. One day an army captain went to one table after another, handling the bread before he selected a roll. A master baker, also a visitor, spoke to him about it. The captain gave a haughty answer, waited for the baker outside and stabbed him. The victim died instantly.

The baker's death caused a great commotion. The funeral was attended by many thousands and proved that the people's sympathies were with him. Now the officer has been sentenced to six months' arrest in barracks, and he will be permitted to keep his rank when he has finished his term. One cannot help wondering what the sentence might have been had the baker stabbed the officer.—Vienna Letter.

Prince Henry's Yacht.

Prince Henry of Battenberg is bitten by the yacht racing mania, and Mr. Watson, the well known designer of the Valkyrie and the Britannia, has received orders to "create" a fast running craft for Prince Henry which will break the record of all former occasions. Hanson, who is building this coming wonder, has received orders to push forward with the work as quickly as possible, which looks as if Prince Henry was anxious to measure swords, or ships rather, with foemen worthy of his steel, or planks.—Paris Herald.

A STRANGE CASE.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will be read with intense interest: "I cannot describe the numb, creepy sensation that existed in my arms, hands and legs. I had to rub and beat those parts until they were sore, to overcome in a measure the dead feeling that had taken possession of them. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my back and around my waist, together with an indescribable 'gone' feeling in my stomach. Physicians said it was creeping paralysis, from which, according to their universal conclusion, there is no relief. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half steadily, but with no particular benefit, when I saw an advertisement of Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvelous as it may seem, but a few days had passed before every bit of that creepy feeling had left me, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 170 to 137. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recomendation, and it has been as satisfactory in their cases as in mine."—Geo Kane, La Rue, O.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is free from opium or dangerous drugs

"ADAMANT" WALL PLASTER!
The New, Cheap Substitute for Common Plaster.

It is very hard and very adhesive; it does away with the warping and shrinkage of doors and casings, and the building is not saturated with water, as it necessarily must be when common plaster is used; it costs originally but little more than lime plaster, and in the end its superior qualities make it immeasurably cheaper; it saves waiting several weeks or months for the buildings to dry out; it does not crack or fall off, even in the case of leakage; it is applied easily by any good plasterer; it is the only material with which repairing can be done neatly and to stay.

KNEE BREECHES COMING.

So Say the Leading Tailors Who Wore the Costume at a Recent Banquet.

A notable dinner took place at Pittsburg last week. It closed the proceedings of a three days' session of the Merchant Tailors' National Exchange and was made memorable by the introduction of a new and gorgeous evening costume.

Four of the leading tailors of the United States wore this costume at the banquet, and its beauty and grace were so striking that the whole company of critical observers regarded it with enthusiastic admiration. The costume consisted of a silk velvet dress coat, satin brocaded waistcoat, satin knee breeches, silk stockings and the lace adornments affected by men of fashion a century ago. Undoubtedly the different colors which can be introduced into such a costume, according to the requirements of the varying types of manly beauty, would lend great brilliance to an occasion of evening festivity. Instead of the raiment of men being merely a foil to set off the bright attire of women it would be of itself a thing of beauty, with which feminine taste and art would have to compete.

The judgment of the merchant tailors at the dinner at Pittsburg was so unanimously in favor of the new costume that it will be the prevailing garb when the convention hold its next annual banquet. The tailors expect, too, that as the fame of its impressive beauty spreads abroad men will be unable to resist the desire to emulate the glory of their raiment.

Perhaps so, but how will it be regarded by the men with thin and crooked legs? Some men of great distinction and a most engaging personality suffer from those physical defects, but at present they are concealed by trousers, in chief part at least. Knee breeches and silk stockings would reveal them to every beholder. It is true that such men might resort to padding, but would not suspicion of the artifice get abroad and provoke unseemly merriment among women?

As it is, the dress of men is comfortable rather than handsome. If they go in for brilliant effects of color and material, they will have to stand criticism of their taste and the beauty of their proportions, from which, happily, they are now exempt.—New York Sun.

UNEASY RESTS THE HEAD.

The Ameer Kept at Home Through Fear That When the Cat's Away, Etc.

The ameer of Afghanistan, who in consideration of a big annual subsidy and frequent lavish presents is England's very good friend and trusty ally against Russian designs in India, is once more debating whether it is safe to leave his country a few months in order to pay a visit to Queen Victoria. It is the English fashion to picture the latter day Afghans as fanatically loyal to their sovereign and devoted to peaceful pursuits, but Ameer Abdur Rahman knows better and fears to leave his devoted subjects to themselves or to expose them to the probable temptations of Russian agents even temporarily. The truth is that the British government shares the ameer's distrust and is by no means anxious to see his highness in England. Negotiations are therefore proceeding to secure in his stead a visit from his two sons, Prince Habbibulla and Prince Mahomed Omar, said to be smart young fellows, who are carefully educated to believe that their bread, butter and other blessings depend upon English good will. At present the princes are devoted to each other, but they will not be Afghans if, when their respected father dies, they do not have a fierce fight for the succession. Then will come Russia's opportunity, as England knows very well.—London Truth.

Street Car Fares Recovered.

The law as an engine of justice is getting more effective. A West Side justice has given a judgment of 5 cents and costs to the plaintiff in each of three suits against the West Chicago Railroad company for having collected fares and failed to carry the complainants down town. Of course the injured individuals were put to some expense and much trouble to get their 5 cent damages and will probably incur further difficulty, as the corporation will appeal, but even this little triumph for the people is gratifying. If a hungry child stole a 5 cent loaf of bread, the state would bear the cost of prosecuting it, and the penalty might be more than restitution of the stolen goods. But it's very different when a rich corporation is the thief.—Chicago Times.

Boston's Busy Railway Station.

Work on the new Union station is rapid, and the coming spring will undoubtedly see it finished and the passenger traffic of the Fitchburg road turned over into the big trainhouse. When all is completed and the trains running, the Union station will be able to boast of having the largest number of passenger train movements in the world, something like 550 coming in and going out daily.—Boston Globe.

Breckinridge's Sadness.

Congressman Breckinridge of Kentucky has a sad way of speaking when he wishes to be impressive, which always is intensified in the last part of his speech. Tom Reed came into the house the other day while Breckinridge was winding up a speech and listened for a moment. Then he turned to General Cogswell and said, "Can you tell me the name of the deceased?"—San Francisco Argonaut.

Japs Going In For Watchmaking.

The enterprising Japs, ever on the lookout for the chance of turning a few honest pennies, have just gone in for watchmaking. A large company with headquarters at Yokohama has been started, and as labor in Japan is cheap and the Japanese possess in a remarkable degree the mechanical skill which is so essential in the business its prospects ought to be good.—London Figaro.

"I'm going to get married," said he as he placed a hand as large as a Dutch cheese upon the counter, "and I want a wedding cake."

"It is customary nowadays," said the pretty bakery girl, "to have the materials of the cake harmonize with the calling of the bridegroom. For a musician, now, we have an oat cake; for a man who has no calling and lives upon his friends, the sponge cake; for a newspaper paragrapher spice cake, and so on. What is you calling, please?"

"I'm a pugilist."

"Then you'll want a pound cake."—Texas Siftings.

Her Little Trap.

"If I do say it," said Mr. McTwombly, "I've got a wife who knows more in a minute than any other woman I ever met knew or knows in a century. She's a wonder."

"What's she been doing now, McTwombly?" asked McTavish.

"Why, she ought to have been a man! She just worked a scheme on me that shows her to be possessed of the true temperament for promoting big enterprises and getting all the money, or for going on Wall street and buying stocks on the right side of the market. She's a wonder.

"Now, she's just worked a scheme on me that shows her supreme financial ability. About a year ago I came home to dinner one night and found her hard at work sewing. Just as I entered the room in which she was, she straightened up and said, 'How many buttonholes do you think I have made this month?' I told her I hadn't the first idea. 'Well,' she said proudly, 'I've made over a hundred.' I suppose that 100 buttonholes are a good many for a woman who has so many things to do as Mrs. McTwombly has, but I felt a bit sportive, and I began to guy her, telling her that any child could make that many in half a day and stuff like that.

"She got mad, and if I had taken the warning and quit I would have had more money today than I have. 'Well,' she snapped. 'I think 100 buttonholes are a good many, and, what's more, I shall probably make 1,000 before the year is out, for I have a good deal of sewing to do.' I kept on guying, like the natural born ass that I am, and she taunted me into making an agreement with her whereby she was to pay me a forfeit if she didn't make 1,000 in a year, and I was to give her a cent apiece for all that she did make, provided the number ran over 1,000.

"That was what she wanted. She put up a job on me. Within a week she had bought one of those patent buttonhole makers that can be attached to a sewing machine and a bolt of white cotton cloth. With those machines you can make buttonholes faster than a horse can trot. The year was up yesterday, and that lovely woman presented me with 56 yards of white cotton cloth literally honeycombed with buttonholes. Every time she had a spare moment she sat down at that machine and rattled off a few dozen. I had to give her a check for $376.48, and it will be a cold day when I guy that woman again."—Buffalo Express.

In the Neck.

At the sound of approaching footsteps the knight with the black mustache raised his eyes in supplication.

"Guide me," he murmured, "O powers, in this affair of the heart."

He waited with bated breath.

"Certainly," he argued with himself in sudden apprehension, "this is the trysting place."

A shadow flitted past him. A mocking laugh rang in his ears.

"Guyed me," he groaned.

Then he groped his way hence.—Detroit Tribune.

SOME STRAY THOUGHTLETS

SEVERAL TOPICS DISCUSSED FROM A WOMAN'S POINT OF VIEW.

Bothered by the Lack of Pockets—Our City's Name—The Disadvantages and Inconveniences of Being One of Many Middletowns—A Week Behind the Times.

I don't know what the following incident can be called an illustration of, unless of the extravagance and ingratitude of improvident people, but it certainly is a true story and amused me very much when I heard it.

A gentleman, importuned over and over again by an able-bodied, lazy negro to bestow on him a pair of trousers, finally told him to come to his house. Being economical, as men usually are in such matters, and having no superfluous clothes, he donned his Sunday-go-to meeting pair, and gave the negro the every-day ones he had been wearing. Meeting the man a few days afterwards, he accosted his benefactor with the complaint that he "couldn't wear those d——d pants till he had had side pockets put in them, and that it had cost him seventy-five cents to have it done." The gentleman had been so unfashionable as to have had his nether garments made without the pockets, which men who have them usually stuff out with keys, knives and other hardware, till they look like huge bunions, and make the wearer somewhat resemble a donkey of Italy with loaded panniers. The negro, who is a member of the sidewalk committee that is superintending the work on the electric railroad, needed the pockets for his hands as well as for his possessions.

I have always thought we made a mistake when we became a city, in not making a strike for a prettier and more unusual name than Middletown. Every resident must have been bothered by a name which we bear in common with many other places. It is almost impossible to impress upon the average clerk in New York city, that there is a Middletown in the same State. He or she will write New Jersey, no matter how distinctly you have proclaimed that you wish your parcels sent to Middletown, New York.

So many of my express parcels and letters have gone to our namesake in New Jersey, that if I ever have a traveling fund and time to spend it, I shall start at once for that place to satisfy my curiosity; perhaps I may find there a mine of strayed or stolen articles. Though there are many other Middletowns, New Yorkers always think that people who live "out of town" must live in New Jersey. That is their idea of the country.

I have long expected my parcels to take a longer trip than necessary and visit other Middletowns before reaching me and therefore I allow them time for it, but I was discouraged lately and wished more devoutly than ever that we had changed our name, when a singer, anxiously expected to fulfill an engagement, missed her companions and, supposing as is usual, that country meant New Jersey, went to that bugbear of ours, New Jersey's Middletown. This mistake could never be rectified, as "better late than never," when it must mean next day, cannot be applied to evening engagements, as it can to express matter. "What's in a name?" A great deal of annoyance and discomfort, sometimes.

I have often heard the complaint made that, in many things, Middletown is behind the times. Certainly it is true of it in the matter of our spring vacations in the public schools. There is no sense or reason in giving our children the first week in April. All over the land, in every other place, both private and public schools have Easter week. We are behind the times enough as a city to still have the first of April for moving day, but why add horror to that time by turning the school children loose to worry and distract their parents, who must devoutly wish them out of their way on that day above all others.

Surely we are a large enough place to not be influenced by the time people must occupy farms. Even if it is imperative that many people move out and in the city, on and off farms, and that it is therefore necessary to keep the first of April for moving, that is just the reason why some other time should be given our children for vacation.

To be the only city or village which does not observe Easter week in its schools prevents any exchange of visits among teachers and scholars and altogether seems an absurd custom we have all to ourselves.

I have not the slightest hope of having the change because of the way it appears to me, but as I have, much to my amazement, been considered an enemy of the teachers in my desire to have whipping abolished, I hope to gain some commendation from them by proposing that, as all the world keeps Easter week, they shall be allowed a like privilege.

THE COMMON COUNCIL.

Special Meeting, Saturday Night—Report of the Committee on Charter Revision—An Important Provision Rejected.

A special meeting of the Common Council was held, Saturday night, to hear a report of the Committee on Charter Revision. President Dorrance and Messrs. Reed, Funnell, Luddington, Bowler and Sinsabaugh were present. The members of the Charter Revision Committee present were Messrs. Wiggins, Iseman, Bailey, Boyd, Pronk and Swayze.

The report of the committee provides for an amendment to Sec. 8 of the charter that all claims for injury to person or property by reason of defects, want of repair or obstruction of the highways shall be presented to the Council in writing within sixty days after date of such injury and shall state time, place, cause, nature and extent of such injury, and the omission to present such claims within the time specified shall be a bar to any action against the city and no action shall be commenced against the city until after the expiration of three months from the presentation of such claim.

Section 1 of Title 5 is amended so as to provide for the appointments by the Mayor of four freeholders, to be known as Commissioners of Estimate and Apportionment, two of whom shall be selected from each of the two parties having the greatest number of votes at the preceding election, to serve without compensation. The Mayor is to preside at the meetings of the Commissioners, and the City Clerk is to attend all meetings and keep a record thereof.

The Common Council is required annually at its first meeting in April, to make an estimate of city expenses to an amount not exceeding $45,000, exclusive of principal and interest of public debt and school expenses.

The Board of Estimate is given power to correct and revise and amend such estimate, and to reject the whole or in part or to increase or decrease any item.

When it is deemed necessary to raise funds for special purposes the Council must submit them to a vote of the taxpayers, the voting to be by ballot and the polls to be open from 2 to 8 p. m.

Mr. Boyd made a minority report and claimed that the power given to the Commissioners should be concentrated in the hands of the Mayor, who should be held responsible.

Mr. Pronk also objected to the vesting of the power in a commission.

Mr. Luddington offered a resolution that where the words "Board of Estimate and Apportionment" appear in the committee report, the words "the Mayor" shall be substituted.

The resolution was adopted, Mr. Sinsabaugh voting no.

Mystery Reception at Y. M. C. A.

Invitations are out for the Mystery Reception at the Young Men's Christian Association to be given Friday evening, March 30. The envelope is sealed and bears the following inscription:

"The Y. M. C. A. on the thirtieth day of March bleak and drear, will open their hall at eight nightfall to welcome you all there, with solemn rights and awesome sights to the Mystery Reception, strange and weird beyond conception given by Y. M. C. A., to the Epworth League and Y. P. S. E.'s. Bring this packet with you please. If its seal remains unbroken, you shall enter by that token and the paym't of ten cents. Weigh the words that have been spoken."

A novel and interesting programme will be given.

Recorder's Court.

A young man, who was arrested for drunkness, last night, was arraigned before the Recorder, this morning. He told where he purchased his liquor, yesterday, and it is possible they will be called to account. The person was reprimanded and discharged.

A WOMAN'S BACK.

THE MAINSPRING OF HER LIFE.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Few people realize this.

What can she do, where can she go, so long as that dreadful backache saps both strength and ambition?

She cannot walk or stand, her duties are heavy burdens, and she is utterly miserable.

The cause is some derangement of the uterus or womb. Backache is the sure symptom.

For years Sarah Holstein, who lives at 7 Perry Street, in Lowell, Mass., suffered with falling of the womb. The best doctors failed to relieve her, and as a last resort she purchased six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Now she is a well woman.

The dreadful pain in her back stopped after taking the second bottle. She wishes she had taken it sooner, and saved both money and years of suffering.

This Vegetable Compound is the one unfailing remedy for such troubles. A woman discovered it and gave it to woman.

IN SUPREME COURT.

Cases Before Judge Brown in Special Term.

Among other cases before Judge Brown in special term in Newburgh, Saturday, were the following of local interest:

Harriet A. Low vs. William B. Royce, William J. Greo and others, administrators. Motion for an order of reference argued and papers submitted.

John Wilkin vs. William H. Clark, as executor. Case called and witnesses sworn. Briefs to be submitted in ten days.

Frances A. Dimmick vs. J. Alden Weir, as executor. Case called and witnesses sworn. Briefs to be submitted in one week.

Judge Brown's divorce mill was working well on Saturday, for in addition to the Sayer case mentioned elsewhere, an absolute divorce was granted Maggie Doolittle from her husband, Geo. W. Doolittle.

A Telephone War Possible.

The announcement of the organization of new telephone companies in the district of the Hudson River Telephone Company, which promises rates greatly below those now charged, is followed by the news that the Hudson River Company proposes to make radical changes. The most radical change that it can make is to reduce its rates and this will probably be done, so that if the new companies go on and put in their systems, a lively telephone war may be inaugurated and telephoning may become as cheap as dirt.

"Artistic and Healthful Dress."

Mrs. Jennees Miller will give her lecture, "Artistic and Healthful Dress," with illustrations by changes of costume, Tuesday, April 17th, at 4 p. m., in the Assembly Rooms. This lecture is very highly spoken of by the press of those cities where it has been given.

A Boy Badly Hurt.

Saturday afternoon, while Harry, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. John Farrel, was at play, he fell from the top of a fence and his face struck the top of a picket, which cut a deep gash in his cheek from his ear to his chin. A physician dressed the wound and doubtless the only serious results will be the scar that will remain for life.

After the Grip

In Misery—No Appetite or Strength

Hood's Sarsaparilla Gave Appetite and Full Strength.

"After I had the grip in the winter I felt so miserable and was in such poor health that I was nearly discouraged, had no appetite for anything, and everything I ate I had to force down. My back was so lame it was almost impossible to lift a kettle from the stove. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken all of it

I Felt Ever So Much Better.

It gave me a good appetite and I could eat a hearty meal and enjoy it, and the lameness in my
